

The chart has two sections, representing two categories. The left side is labeled "attrition" and the right side is labelled "age".

The x-axis likely represents time in years. It starts at "18" and ends at "60".

The y-axis shows counts.

The left side of the chart seems to show two subgroups, possibly "Yes" and "No" (attrition). It appears that the number of people in the "Yes" category has been increasing over time, while the number of people in the "No" category has been decreasing.